Martin Cora I

Musings of Rita Brown- granddaughter to MARTIN Cora Isabel

BIRTH 04 JUN 1897 • Madison, Scioto, Ohio, United States
Death 1956 - Newark, Licking, Ohio, United States, Ohio, United States
Married -clyde r COPLEY 1916 - Porter, Scioto, Ohio, USA

I was only nine years old when my Grandma Copley died of a heart attack.

I remember she always wore dresses. She was religious and went to Pentecostal churches and tent revival meetings. Sometimes I would stay with her when my mother was at work.

I hated going to her churches and meetings. They were loud . People shouted and gestured and the singing never seemed to stop. Everyone greeting and touching….,.I hated this.

In addition, my grandmother would "speak in tongues". She would go into what seemed like a trace and begin to speak gibberish. Other church goers regarded her with awe. I was thrilled when this happened because it meant that I could sneak outside for a while.

I was not allowed to go to her funeral.

Looking at her now with eyes of a 69 year old woman, I think what a "hard knock life" she had. She gave birth to fourteen children. One died at only 7 weeks. Joy, one of a set of twins, died of rabies. I never saw her and Grandpa living together. He lived at one end of Wells Ave in Newark OH and she at the other. He lived in a small wooden "shotgun" house . She built herself a house of cement block. Have no idea how she supported herself and the children still living with her.

Her daughter Martha June had a daughter named Phyllis Kaye. June was incapable of caring for Phyllis so Grandma Copley adopted Phyllis.

As I describe my childhood now, I realize that we were poor. I did not know it then. I thought everyone went to the Salvation Army at Christmas service and that December was the only time oranges were available.

As an adult, I am sad that I did not get to know Grandma Copley better.

A "shotgun house" is a narrow rectangular domestic residence, usually no more than about 12 feet (3.5 m) wide, with rooms arranged one behind the other and doors at each end of the house.
